

Jasmine Eubanks - St. Francis Seraph - Seton High School

There are different ways I have affected people in a positive way. Here is an example of me affecting my sister in a favorable manner. My sister is in 5th grade. I have been a good influence when I'm around her, so that she can learn how to do things the right way. When my sister and I go to our center, The Salvation Army, I have to make sure I sign both of us in and sign both of us out when we leave. I also have to swipe our cards when we arrive and when we leave. After swiping our cards and signing in, I have to make sure she gets her items in her locker and lock it back up again. We do this everyday of the week. I want to teach her how to be responsible. As the year continues, I try to make her take on more responsibility, so that she knows how to do things correctly and safely. I helped her for two weeks. There was one week that I didn't go to The Salvation Army because I was sick. When I returned I heard Micah was doing things herself and didn't ask for help. She knew the locker combination and also knew how to sign herself in and to swipe the card. I was proud of her developing that process by herself for a week.

I also do things for my church called The Shepherd's Heart. I have been a member there for almost two years. I help with fundraisers and creating new activities. The fundraisers are suppose to raise money for the electricity and the water bills. Some of the money is suppose to go to the people who need it the most. I create and design the posters for the fundraisers and I also help with the soup kitchen for homeless. I help serve food and also make sure that people are comfortable by talking to them and keeping them company. After everyone has left I stay and help the other members clean and wipe down the chairs and tables for the next day. I never missed any planning days or any volunteer days. I take church very serious and I make sure I set an example for those who are not doing the right thing. At school I give my work 100%. I take my time learning and developing things so that I will know how to do things the right way. I participate in an activity at school and it's basketball . I affect people in a positive way by showing up to practices and working hard at practice. It took me a long time to realize that working hard can earn me a lot of opportunities.

By working hard I got accepted to all of the high schools I applied to : Seton, Roger Bacon, and Mother of Mercy High Schools. I earned a scholarship to each of these schools. I try my best to make the people who are helping me academically proud. I do not want them to think they are wasting their time . I affected my classmates by showing them that working hard can bring new opportunities. I hope to continue being a leader and having a positive influence on others in high school.
