Hello, my name is Jett Fields, and I go to Holy Family catholic school. I have gone at this incredible school for 9 straight years. I love it. I like it because its small and it has a great student, teacher ratio. I am in the 8th grade, and I have one of the best teachers ever. Her name is Mrs. Smith. If there was an award for best teacher I would probably nominate her. Anyway I love Being in a Catholic school. I think I just have better connection with the staff, and teachers. I love it so much.

I'm writing this, because truly I really think it's one of the sweetest and inspiring things I have ever heard of. When my teacher told me, and my classmates I almost had tears in my eye. You guys are one the most inspiring group of people I know. You're taking your precious, dear time to read every little persons essay. The thing that got me the most was that theirs not only one of you theirs more. When I was 5 I remember my Grandma told me a valuable quote. She said "Jett, you can start so much with just 1 person. When she passed away in December, I read you're guy's story, and was touched thought to myself, "I am really grateful".

To hear the story really appreciate what you guys are doing. If I were all your parents I would be so proud, and impressed. I truly think you guys are my idols. I really truly what the scholarship it will help me and my family, and I'll be really proud. I have been called dumb and stupid a number of numerous times, but if I got the scholarship I'd say thanks to everyone, my family, teachers, and respectively my dear friends. I am not begging for this scholarship I'm just saying how it's the truth. You guys are some of the smartest people I know. If your reading this essay write now, I just what to say thank you. I bet Aubrey is looking down from heaven, and saying "truly I really did have the best family friends, but wait I still do". IT'S YOU GUYS.

THANK YOU.....
